It was gettin' kinda gusty, out there on the range,
Koda Joe and Tuco, were acting kinda strange.
All squirmin' and fidgety, like they's all backed up inside,
Just couldn't get comfortable, no matter how they tried.
They'd lean this way, and then lean that
They'd adjust their braces, and then adjust their hat.
Seemed there'd be no relief that day, no matter what they tried
Just felt like something, had crawled up in them and died.
All of a sudden like, from a trail of dust he rode
In come Yank Ma' Chain, gonna ease their load.
Tuco said "Pull my finger Yank, I needs me some joys"
Yank pulled Tuco's finger and said.....
"Let'er rip boys."

Stage 2 Berm 3 Well - Special Guest Poet - Krazy Kajun (don't blame the management)

Twas da night afore da match, Witch Doctor was filled with glee
Gonna get to shoot her guns, with friends and family.
She gathered up her shootin irons, put them in her cart
Just couldn't hardly wait, to get an early start.
Next morning off she went, riding with ole PI
On out to Riverbend, the apple of her eye.
While unloading the truck, ole PI scratched his head
"There's something I forgot dear", that is what he said
Witch Doctor was at the shooting line, a'grabbing at her hat
Said the starting line and then that was that.
She levered at her rifle and pulled hard on the trigger
Click but no bang, she just couldn't figure.
What heck the is wrong, that's all kinda queer,
Then PI yelled out, .....
"Where's your firing pin dear?"

It was a long ride home, from the trail that day,
 Fast Eddie and McKenzie, were slowly on their way
 In no particular hurry, was either one of them
 Just wanted a slow ride, without a worry or whim.
 In a flash from the sagebrush, out popped Capt. Bill
 I'll have those guns boys, and all your drinkin' swill.
 Eddie and McKenzie, handed over their shootin' irons
 Ole Bill road away sayin, "When will they ever learn."
 As ole Bill road away, Eddie said with evil glee
 He may have got my pistols....
 "I still got my SKB."

Georgia Slick was riding bronc, bucked and almost threwed
But he held on for all he's worth, making sure he showed.
All those folks at Riverbend, that he was top cowboy
And he would win the buckle, and be all filled with joy.
Suddenly his bronc got rank, jerked him this way and that.
All Georgia Slick could do, was hold tight on reins and hat.
Slick was 'bout to be bucked off, it wasn't lookin' good
Wondered if'n he'd hold on, trying as hard as he could.
Sudden like the bagboy came, and he unplugged the horse.

Bucktooth Buscarado been working hard, digging all day long
 And Whisker's Business was helping out, singing him a song.
 Their mood was very festive, feeling light and gay
 Trying to get their burrow, ready for Ground Hog's Day
 When they finished they were tired, paws were sore and red
 Off to bed to get some sleep, and rest their weary head.
 Come the morning Whiskers woke, out the burrow she scampered
 Trying to get a peek to see, the next 6 weeks unhampered.
 "But soft what light through yonder window breaks, that's what Whisker's said
